Do I need my TA to submit my grade?

January 7, 2020

Graduate students are asking undergraduates for their continued support as the grading strike extends into the winter quarter due to the admins’ voluntary refusal to meet with us. TAs are willing to submit individual grades for students who urgently need them. This chart is to help you decide whether your need is urgent. We will never require you to disclose the reason for your request.

I’m concerned about:

- Academic probation
- Athletics
- Financial aid
- Graduating in Fall or Winter
- Missing a grade in a prerequisite class
- I’m anxious about my grades
- Needing to retake a class right away
- Needing an official transcript/proof of graduation

You will not suffer consequences from missing grades.

I am not subject to quarterly academic review for financial aid.

My financial aid requires review of my grades every quarter.

I’m confident my grade is a C or higher.

I am not sure what grade I got.

I definitely did not get a C or higher.

Ask your TA to tell you your grade.

TAs can give you your grade in person, or via email using this form: payusmoreucsc.com/ferpa-waiver-form

Ask your TA to submit your grade officially.

You do not need to tell them why – just tell them it’s urgent.
